Take a tour of our assessment and consulting process in support of your best career choices. Learn why your behavioral skills play a key role in determining your best career fit. Academic accreditation, work experience and career interests are not enough to select your best career path(s). In fact, without a strong alignment between your behavioral strengths and the soft skills required for a specific job, you will not come close to realizing your full potential.

The SuccessFinder and Personality DNA are the only career assessment tools that accurately quantify the compelling correlation between your behavioral strengths, measured across the 85-trait periodic table of human behavior, and career success. No other assessment on the planet offers this type of evidence-based research or predictive accuracy. This correlation identifies the career roles in which you will experience the greatest purpose, fulfillment, and achievement.

Three Distinct Levels of Predictive Reporting:

There are three distinct levels of career and leadership prediction provided by this diagnostic process:

1. Your top ten best career choices, with the emphasis on the specific mix of these careers.
2. Your best leadership fit and role.
3. Your top soft skills development priorities relative to your best career fit.

Our demo process walks you through a guided tour of the assessment and consulting process using a select sample of the assessment questions, report elements and consulting engagement.
